What Makes Us Different?

What makes our programs unique is that we provide education on how to use operant conditioning to eliminate workplace harassment, discrimination, bullying and conflict paying specific attention to how to manage and control retaliations. We teach not only why this happens, but also what science has shown us works to eliminate it and how to create oversight processes that control and eliminate the retaliation phenomenon.

Who are we?

Humanist Learning Systems was founded in 2013 by Jennifer Hancock, author of the Bully Vaccine, to provide professional educational programs in harassment elimination, humanistic leadership and humanistic management techniques.
