

Who are we?

Humanist Learning Systems was created to provide a place where people can receive practical information on how to more effectively and humanistically solve our problems. All of our courses combine applied science, compassionate ethics & personal responsibility for solutions that actually work!

How We Work:

Our programs are offered in an online learning management system which allows participants to study at their own pace when it is convenient while still having access to the teacher and their fellow students to ask questions and get feedback on difficult subjects. It really is the best of both worlds in online education. To access these courses, all you need is a way to access the internet and the ability to view online videos. We can also arrange live Q&A sessions upon request.

Continuing Education Credit:

Some of the programs and resources are available as continuing education credits. These are noted for your convenience. We are an approved provider for HRCI and SHRM and have been approved to offer courses by both the FL & CA Bars. Additionally, because our courses rely so heavily on science, we have courses appropriate for Coaches, Diversity Professionals and for Learning Professionals.

Sexual Harassment Training & Staff Training:

Humanist Learning Systems offers sexual harassment training that will not only satisfy your compliance requirements but help you do so in a way that truly empowers your employees. Our courses provide all the legally required content regarding harassment/discrimination plus additional training on how to stop harassment using behavioral management techniques. Harassment is a behavioral problem and to tackle it successfully, you need to take a behavioral approach.

Group Rates Are Available for all our courses (content licensing also available)

- 10% off for 10 or more participants
